Lucy Dickenson - a joy and inspiration to all who knew her'

Lucy Dickenson. the inspirational young woman from Barry, who founded a charity and devoted her life to helping people across the globe, died last week in a car crash in Zambia.

Lucy was just 32 years old, but in her short life she left a legacy that will continue for many years to come.

She founded the SAFE Foundation in 2007 to help provide grants and materials to relieve poverty in developing countries.

From her experience of working in countries such as Uganda, Rwanda and Mongolia, she had discovered that remote or small projects had difficulty getting mainstream aid - that was where the foundation, which she ran with twin sister Hannah.

stepped in.

Show worthy of the West End!

WENT to see Fame Jr: The Musical at the Barry Memorial Hall on Wednesday, August 23, and it was absolutely fabulous!

Christian Bullen, director and choreogra-pher of 'Superstars In The Making', has demonstrated his enormous gift for putting on a wonderful show.

The main cast were Ethan Whitcombe, Kirstie Fox, Rhian Neil, Lewis Norman, Louise Hall, Chaliese Ludvigsen, Jodi Bird, Joseph Mees, Millie Van-Emden, Luke Edwards, Laura Owens, Ruby Hartery, Lewis Gulliver and Rhys Lloyd, with 40 other talented performers who made up the chorus.

Each and every one brought their own unique gifts and talents to bring the characters alive, to such an extent that the audience were taken on an exciting and emotional journey, which led to the cast being given a standing ovation after the performance.

It was the best show that I've seen in years; it was so good that I recommended it to family and friends, who travelled from Cardiff and Cwmbran to see the show

The show was so impressive, it was most people's opinion that it was worthy of being shown in the West End! Well done, and congratulations to Christian Bullen and all of his Superstars In The Making' for a wonderful show!

'Be responsible for your rubbish'

Barry Island.

Remembering the 'hut people'

post-war years, with many Nissen huts suddenly being declared surplus to requirements, it was common for otherwise homeless families to occupy them, often making them into neat little homes for many years, while awaiting improved accommodation.

I know of instances of such occupations occurring in disused huts on Barry Island (on the N the immediate future site of Butlins) and at Llandow, where the last couple left their hut in March 1979 (34 vears after the Second World War!

Do any other GEM readers have memories or photographs of these post-war living arrangements in the Vale of Glamorgan?

It is an interesting area for research, my own interest being in the RAF locally.

Faces that bring back memories of yesteryear

HAVE read with interest, the recent GEM article submitted by Mac Wilcox, concerning Barry's Olympic celebrations of yesteryear.

I visited Mac Wilcox at his residence in St Nicholas and discussed with him my research project 'The History of Gladstone School, Barry'.

Like Mac, I am an old boy of the school, but from an earlier era. Mac has kindly let me have on loan his original photo (above), previously published in The GEM.

In my research discussions with several 'Old Gladstonians', we have now come up with quite a few names to place with faces. The photo was taken after the annual Secondary School Sports Day at the Athletic Ground, Barry Island in June Mac recollects that there were several lads who did not live in the immediate catchment area of Gladstone School.

Apparently, a bus would leave Barry and travel down Five Mile Lane, then via St Nicholas, The Downs, Culverhouse Cross, St Fagan's and Peterston-super-Ely, picking up boys and girls on the way and then return to Barry.

The boys were dropped off at Gladstone School and the girls at Holton School. The journey back ome was enjoyed more than the one to school.

On behalf of The 'Old Gladstonians' I now offer these further names to put to the faces: Back Row: (unknown), David Williams.

(unknown), (unknown), Stan Eveleigh, Ken Chamberlain, Brian Adams, Brian Everitt, Paul McAuley, Davis Saif, (unknown).

'Fed up' with the EU regulations

GUESS, like a lot of people, I am getting really fed up with the rules and regulations that we have to put up with from the EU.

I really wish the UK Government would show some guts and start sticking up for the peo-ple of this country. We now have a situation where they want more bins for more items to be recycled separately. They have also threatened councils with heavy fines if they don't comply.

Who on earth do they think they are?

They are unelected parasites who should be told where to stick their rules and regulations DJ Radford Barry

Eisteddfod choir member's thanks through vour letters page, say a huge thank you to all those involved in this year's National Eisteddfod at Llandow in the Vale.

I would especially like to thank Eleri Roberts and Euros Rhys Evans: I joined the Eisteddfod Choir early in 2011 and attended rehearsals at Tabernacle Chanel Barry until the week of the Eisteddfod.

Eleri and Euros worked tirelessly to prepare us for an amazing weekend on the maes

I am not a Welsh speaker (although my two daughters are) but I am able to read and pronounce the Welsh words, even though I do not always understand them. This has been a wonderful experience for me, as I am sure it was for the other members of the Eisteddfod Choir.

So, thank you once again, Eleri and Euros, and all the accompanists at rehearsals – as well as others involved in the whole amazing journey.

Praise for the organisers

MUST compliment the Eisteddfod organising committee for a smooth non-intrusive event at Llandow.

I note that the attendance was said to be 140,000, spread over the week, but how many of the daily attendance were repeat visitors?

How many were resident outside the immediate south Wales area? How many of the visitors were 'Eisteddfod virgins'? Just curious.

POWER OF A LETTER TO THE EDITOR!

WONDER if vour readers realise just what power a letter to the Editor has?

Newspapers (including The GEM) recently printed my letter seek-ing those who had served in the Royal Navy, at the massive 197-acre Shore Establishment HMS Collingwood at Fareham in Hampshire.

The plan is to reunite with old shipmates through the HMS Collingwood Association, possibly meeting up again at one of the reunions we hold every year, or even join ing one of the visits to HMS Collingwood to see the changes. Well, they came out of the woodwork which was what was hoped for –as I doubt if there is a single hamlet or village in the UK, which has not had someone serve there, since it was commis-sioned in January 1940, and up to the present day.

The power of my letter to the Editor has even brought responses from those who volun-teered their services back in World War II to serve for the duration of the present conflict, as it was expressed on their service documents.

Lots of them won dered how many of their trainee shipmates sur-vived the war.

Take the 91-year-old sister of one of those killed when a bomb dropped on an accom-modation hut in 1943, killing 31: He had been in the Royal Navy for only 17 days and under early stages of training; the cook who met the Wren in the Pay Office and has now been married to her for 54 years; the daughter of one of the captains who was challenged when she tried to ride her horse through the main gates

After the war, HMS Collingwood became the home of the Radio, Radar and Electrical Branch and the cooks, pay clerks and stores personnel, were now providing administration for those under technical and practical training for the Electrical Branch, and subsequent deriva-

Many of the latter return to HMS Collingwood, on a number of occasions for courses linked to promotion.

Any reader who didn't see my first letter, or put it to one side to be dealt with later and would love to swing the lamp again, can contact me, at 7 Heath Road, Sandown, Isle of Wight PO36 8PG or on mike.crowe1@btinternet.com (that is crowe number 1) for either the HMS Collingwood Association or the Royal Naval Electrical Branch Association, When did you serve and who are you looking for?

Knowing the power of the press, and the response from letters to the Editor, I look forward to receiving many interesting topics, and the prospect of reuniting many shipmates

HIGH TIDE TIMES

(UNTIL SEPTEMBER 6)

The high tides listed in this week's GEM are those in Porthcawl. It should be remembered that along the coast, high tide times will vary. For instance, in Barry, the high point will be 20 - 25 minutes later.

CELEBRATIONS AT BARRY COMPREHENSIVE AS THE STANDARDS CONTINUE TO RISE

ABOVE: High achievers Daniel Woolford, Jahn Hartland and Calum Grant are looking forward to taking A-Levels.

BARRY Comprehensive School pupils are looking forward to progressing to the sixth form or developing their careers in the outside world following a successful set of GCSE results.

One student who was agonising as to whether to stay on and take A-Levels or take up a new job offer was Alex Parker.

Alex explained: "I've decided to join BMW as a trainee service advisor on Penarth Road in Cardiff.

He explained: "I've now been accepted for both Cardiff races and will be able to discuss my starting position with them so that it falls in line with my run times.

"It means that I won't have to try and steer Nancy and the buggy around the slower runners. That could, of course have been considered a risk.

"Exercise is not just important for Nancy, it is imperative to keep her lungs healthy, and may prevent her needing a lung transplant at a relatively young age and extend her life.

Heading for Dinas Powys, Older People's Commission roadshow...

THE Older People's Commission for Wales recently began its 'Commission Roadshow', aiming to engage with older people in a diverse range of groups in communities across Wales.

As part of the road-show, the commission will be holding informa-tion days around Wales. The first information day was held at the Murchfield Community Centre in Dinas Powys on August 13.

Kelly Davies, communications and engagement manager at the commission, said: "We received a warm welcome from the people we met in Dinas Powys and it was great to meet representatives from Dinas Powys Voluntary Concern, who provide valuable support to older people in the community.

"We heard about a new befriending scheme launched in association with The Big Lottery and the Vale Centre for Voluntary Services.

"The scheme aims to help reduce feelings of loss and isolation through developing a

"We anticipate working with the Older People's Commissioner for Wales and others, including the WRVS, Llandough Hospital and our local authority, in identifying and helping local residents who could benefit from the support which DPVC volunteers willingly and cheerfully offer"

BRYN HAFREN CELEBRA' 'BEST-EVER' GCSE RESULTS

PHOTOGRAPHS by IAN DIXON

PUPILS Bryn Hafren Comprehensive School have celebrated achieving the best-ever GCSE results in the school's history.

The results mark eight years of year on year improvement, having improved from 41 per cent in 2004 to over 72 per cent this year obtaining five or more A* to C grades.

Headteacher Phil Whitcombe was "delighted" by the pupils' achievements and praised the dedication of his staff, the hard work of his pupils and the support of the parents.

The performance was exceptional and significantly exceeded targets set for the school by the Local Authority.

The school said it confirms the recent highly positive inspection report which praised the outstanding choice of subjects at GCSE Level which allows pupils to follow an exceptionally wide variety of courses to suit their needs.

The Key Statistic were: five or more A*-C 72.4 per cent five or more A*-G 94 per cent.

More pupils are achieving 10 or more good grade GCSEs in 2012 than achieved five good grade GCSEs in 2004.

Over 40 per cent of pupils obtained eight or more higher grade GCSEs, and 12 per cent of pupils obtained 12 or more higher grade GCSEs.

No registered pupil of the school left without recognised qualifications

Mr David Noble, the chair of governors, was delighted with this year's results and commended the school pupils and staff for their dedication and hard work

VALE MP's VIEWPOINT

'End the appalling wait for urgent cancer treatment'

IGURES published last week, show that waiting time targets for urgent cases of suspected cancer have been missed again in Cardiff and the Vale and across Wales.

Sadly, delays in treatment are issues that all too regularly crop up in my constituency surgeries.

in my constituency surgeries. These new figures highlight that only 89 per cent of patients started treatment within the target timeframe of 62 days in the three months to June 2012.

It is worrying that the 95 per cent target has not been met once since Carwyn Jones became First Minister in 2009

Minister in 2009.

I'm only too aware that when someone is told that they have cancer, the waiting to begin treatment is a frightening and distressing time for patients and their families.

Starting treatment promptly is critical to the patient's prospects for a successful outcome.

Cancer patients are less likely to get the latest drugs, here in Wales which are routinely available in England, in the absence of a cancer drug's fund.

The BBC reported last year that 22 new drugs prescribed regularly in England are not routinely available in Wales, and the Rarer Cancer Foundation reported that English patients are five times more likely to get cancer drugs than their counterparts in Wales.

Welsh Ministers need to speed

Welsh Ministers need to speed up the implementation of the All-Wales Cancer Action Plan and work with Local Health Boards to allow patients to begin treatment more quickly.

more quickly.

The Health Minister also needs to listen to the concerns of cancer patients and drop her opposition to a cancer treatments fund, which would end the postcode lottery in access to vital life-extending cancer drugs.

This appalling situation also needs to be taken in the context of a commitment by the UK government to grow its health spend in real terms over this parliamentary period, while the Labour administration in Cardiff Bay plans to cut health spend by 8.4 per cent in real terms by 2015.

The reduced spending level also has to fund free prescriptions for everyone – rather than the usual exclusions for pensioners, children, benefit claimants and to finance free hospital parking.

Earlier this month, I met with Cowbridge-based Prostate Cymru founder Ray Murray, and pledged

Vale MP Alun Cairns reports to my support for their campaign to help create Wales' first robotic urological surgery facility.

I was aghast to hear that if you are a prostate patient in England and want robotic surgery – then you're likely to get it free on the NHS – but for men in Wales, it's not available on the Welsh NHS! Currently if patients in Wales want this treatment, they have pay privately and go to England vately and go to England.

In April, I backed calls for national standards of care, calling on anyone with direct or indirect experience of the disease to feed back on The Prostate Cancer Charity's draft standards.

Prostate Cymru has launched its Operation Robot campaign to raise £1.7m to fund the establishment of Wales's first specialist Robotic Urological Surgery facility. It would be at the University Hospital of Wales in Cardiff and be available to patients across Prostate cancer is the most common cancer in men in the UK, which is why I believe it's essential we know exactly what people affected by the disease require can expect from our health service.

Men everywhere deserve quality prostate cancer care, and I will do all I can to ensure this is possible for us in Wales. It's important that the Welsh Government work closely with their colleagues in England to develop, implement and invest in prostate care in Wales, so that patients here can get the best care and support.

MRS MOTIVATOR POINTS THE WAY FORWARD FOR THE VALE

Breakfast meeting Glamorgan Show in the grounds of Fonmon Castle last Wednesday, Vale Council leader, Neil Moore and cabinet member for regeneration, innovation, planning and transportation, Coun Lis Burnett, asked guests for their views on the future of the area's economic development.

The Vale Council has historically hosted an key sector.

In the 'Vital to the Vale' event, representatives from a wide range of businesses, including the Vale Resort, Marco's Café. Task Force Skirmish Paintball and Seabreeze Homes took part in the discussion, with guest speaker Philippa Davies, a business psychologist and author, also known as 'Mrs Motivator'.

Jane Hutt AM, Vaughan Gething AM, Sir Brooke Boothby of Fonmon Castle and Vale of Glamorgan Mayor, Coun Eric Hacker, also joined in the discussion.
Suggestions included

Suggestions included better promotion of venues, strengthening and integrating communities, focus on the Vale's diversity and building a Vale 'brand'.

Following the discussion, Ms Davies gave an insight into modern business and the internet, advising businesses on how to make the web work for them.

She told the audience:

"The more you can find out about a customer's 'journey' the better, because it tells you how you fit into the context of their life. It's not so much about discussing products and services with customers, more about them helping you to design your shop."

Coun Neil Moore told guests: "We have tried to do things differently this year and to facilitate a discussion, so we can hear your views. We have two questions: what is really good about the Vale that we should promote? – and where ae the gaps either in provision or in the links that would make existing facilities more effective?"

Sponsorship helps Robert set his sights on Olympic dream

A FREE-STYLE skier from Barry, with aspirations of competing at the 2014
Winter Olympics, has received a sponsorship boost from the local Specsavers

Robert Taylor (28) represented Great Britain at the 2011 World Cup held in the USA, but, unlike competitors around the world, has had to completely self-fund his ambitions.

As a result, Specsavers in Holton Road decided to help ease the burden by providing Taylor with a year's supply of contact lenses.

Robert will now continue to compete as a member of the World Cup freestyle half-pipe circuit and has set his sights on becoming one of only a handful of Welsh athletes to have ever taken part in the Winter Olympics, which will be held in Sochi, Russia in two years' time. He said: "When I'm back at home in Barry, I work with a gardening company to make some money, but I save up virtually all of that to enable me to travel to, and stay at venues around the world, so I can compete at events.

"It means I pretty much end up living off next to nothing, so when Specsavers offered to supply me with free contact lenses it was a massive help with the costs.

Robert suffered personal tragedy after his brother, Richard, who he describes as his inspiration, died in a freak accident while roller-boarding at the age of just 23.

He added: "My brother got me into the sport, and if it wasn't for him I wouldn't be where I am today. He was, and still is, my inspiration. He's what makes me stronger.

"None of this would also have been possible without the support of my mother, Gaynor. She has helped me out in so many ways I couldn't even begin to describe.

"She encouraged me to keep pursuing my dream and is the strongest person I know. I can't thank her enough really."

Robert's success has been achieved despite having to endure some physical setbacks. He suffered an anterior cruciate ligament injury in his right knee and then broke his shoulder, which kept him out of the sport for two years from 2009.

He adds: "After two years out injured, it was amazing to come back and make the British World Cup squad. It was an amazing experience, and my goal now is to continue training and competing on the circuit, and hopefully I can make it to the win-ter Olympics in Russia in 2014."

Diabetes Peer Support makes an impact in Barry

Jane Hutt AM with Wendy Gane MBE and the Diabetes Peer Support Group.

Honours for Barry boys

TWO Barry youngsters, Scott Griffiths (Barry Boys) and Iwan Baker (Bro Morgannwg), recently had the honour of representing east Wales under-14s in the Wales Rugby League Origin Match played at the Gnoll, Neath.

Both boys, who play for Barry Rugby Club, made significant contributions and Iwan scored the try that clinched a 24-14 victory for the east against st Wales.

To cap a memorable week off, the two boys, along with other Vale players Sam Davies, Caleb Docking, Eddy Drake, Callum Mickleson and man of the match Sion Jones, went on to clinch the Wales under-14s title with Panthers Rugby League by defeating Aber Valley Wolves at Caerphilly

This completed an undefeated season for the Panthers, with 11 wins and a draw from their 12 matches. THE Diabetes Peer Support Programme, led by Wendy Gane MBE, was well received at the Barry YMCA HUB this month.

A great deal of advice and experience, as well as clinical knowledge, was shared.

Vale AM Jane Hutt said: "Diabetes Peer

Support was well received, especially for those with a more recent diagnosis of diabetes. This was an excellent way to share knowledge and understanding."

Remembering brave Lucy, a champion of the oppressed death of Lucy Dickenson, the inspirational young founder and leader of the SAFE Foundation, is a terrible shock and huge loss to all those she empowered and supported in Africa, India and across the world, as well as here in Wales.

organisations and groups she helped to inspire and organise.

Lucy rose above all the weaknesses of bureaucracy and steered all the money she raised for the projects and com munities she supported. She lived simply so that others may live and benefit from the SAFE Foundation and was always stretching her intellect, her imagination and her skills to make a difference.

She believed in the Millennium Development goals, she didn't just subscribe to them. She wanted to make them happen not just support them in principle as found in our shared work for our local 'Vale for Africa'

She was also a brilliant speaker, as so many of us found at her talks to the Barry Soroptimists and also at the Dorothy Rees Memorial Lunch earlier this year.

She put our small world into perspective as she spoke with such openness and honesty, not about herself, but about the wider world where poverty and hunger is a reality and she showed what we can do to play our part to support the work of the SAFE Foundation.

Professor Stephen Tomlinson CBE, Chairman of Vale for Africa and the Wales for Africa Health Links Network said of Lucy: 'Lucy and the SAFE Foundation worked together with Vale for Africa as partners. Lucy was a Trustee of Vale for Africa and I have known her from the beginning of our partnership four years ago.

"She was a joy; she brightened up any room she entered. She was truly inspirational and cared deeply for the poor, the sick and the disadvantaged, especially children in Africa and Asia."

She was a true leader of young people and helped changed the lives of young people from Wales, as well as across the world. In her short life, she achieved so much more than we see in policies and programmes which have good intention, but can take decades to deliver.

This was recognised in the Gold Star Award Ceremony recently in Wales

It was an honour and privilege to know Lucy Dickenson and our thoughts are now with her family and friends, with whom we share the intense grief of the loss of such a fine young woman of Wales.

Cowbridge welcomes top local and global talent for third annual music festival

TEPTEMBER 14 sees the opening of the 2012 Cowbridge Music Festival, with audiences set to fill Holy Cross Church for world class performances by local and international artists.

The festival begins with top string players from across Europe.
Members of the Lausanne Chamber Orchestra and Chamber Orchestra of Europe present two hallmark works: the turbulently passionate 'Souvenir de Florence' by Tchaikovsky, and the richly lyrical 'String Sextet in B flat' by Brahms. On Saturday 15, musicians from Bulgaria, Germany and Switzerland, 'Tri i Dve', will raise the roof of the town hall with a free concert in aid of Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research (donations invited)

The group's unique sound combines Western classical elegance with the rich colours and exuberant rhythms of Hungarian and Balkan folk music.

Three outstanding young musicians – Cowbridge violinist Charlie MacClure, Atlantic College pianist Emma Woo, and harpist Benjamin Creighton Griffiths, open the festival's second weekend, presenting a wide variety of solo pieces in this showcase for local talent.

ences for Baroque music, so we're delighted to be able to respond with a tailored programme.

Friday 28 is movie night, as CMF and Big Screen Cinema collabo rate once again to present comic masterpieces by Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin, with Swiss pianist Lucas Buclin returning to provide his captivating improvised accompaniment.

Last year's silent movie evening wel-comed a sold-out crowd, with film lovers aged three to 83 sharing laughter and, of course, -cream.

Eminent Welsh

pianist Llyr Williams brings the programme to a close on Saturday 29, with a recital of some of the greatest works for piano by Schubert, Brahms and Chopin. Founded in 2010 with a grant from Creative Rural Communities, the festival was awarded charitable status in 2011.

This year, it has received funding from the Arts Council of Wales, D'Oyly Carte Charitable Trust and the Simon Gibson Charitable Trust, in addition to a second year of sponsorship from Cardiff Design.

Admission to all six concerts is free for children and students. The organisers are also proud to offer the lowest ticket prices of any international-standard festival.
Continuing a commitment to community outreach, the festival will include free per-formances in local schools and care homes. Events already confirmed are a strings concert for students of Cowbridge Comprehensive School and a miniature silent movie at Barry Island Primary School. This year, CMF is also excited to work with artists from the Cardiff School of Art & Design (UWIC), who will create pieces of art inspired by the festival's music programme. Their work will be displayed at Cowbridge Library throughout September. Tickets, including

'saver' festival passes, are on sale now from Xantippe on Cowbridge High Street, through PayPal on the website (see below), and from Ticket Source on 08448 700887

Custom bike show and funday for Ellie

A CUSTOM bike show and funday in aid of children's charity Latch is set to return to Morrisons in Cardiff Bay this Sunday (September 2) following a successful debut at the same store last vear.

Most of the displays and events are returning for this years' event. including custom bikes, trikes and classics coming down on the day; police, fire service and army displays; vintage cars; a funfair; the play bus; the falconry UK team; various stalls, trade stands and refreshments; and a beauty tent where you can have your nails and hair

There will also be a vintage bus running every hour to the Tall Ships Festival at Barry Waterfront to take visitors between the two events.

A grand raffle is taking place with tickets still available up to and on the day.

The price of a ticket is only £1, and the draw will take place at 3.30pm on the day.

If any vintage car owners in the area wish to display on the day, call Roger Clarke at the Morrisons store in Cardiff Bay to get involved.

This Impostor leaves an indelible mark..

HE phrase that real life is stranger than fiction is never truer than in the world of documentary.

Since Michael Moore showed that there was both demand, and in turn plenty of box office, for cinematically released documentaries. we've seen all forms of human life on the big screen, from feuding arcade gamers to youngsters competing in spelling bees, and everything in between.

The latest documentary to hit the big screen is The Impostor, a film by Bart Layton, which tells the story of a fami-ly who are shocked when their son, who went missing four years previously, suddenly turns up in Spain; however all is not as it seems, and as the identi-ty of the son is called into question, so too are a whole manner of incidents that make the reappearance the tip of the iceberg...

Given the paucity of original storylines ema-nating from Hollywood, it's no surprise that cinemagoers are being drawn into real-life stories that offer far more than their fictional counterparts; so when handed a story that could have been ripped straight from the pages of a film, you're left with something a bit more intriguing than first intended.

Bart Layton was on to a winner when given the story of Nicholas Barclay, whose disappearance and subsequent reappearance as the impostor of the title, Frederic Bourdin, proves to be the tipping point of a story that goes in some unexpected directions.

Layton, who has previously worked with tel-evision documentaries, is more than comfort-able within this genre and it shows – he is surefooted with the stierooted will the story, teasing little reveals and keeping the story flowing, while the mixture of atmospheric visuals and talking heads is well balanced.

A documentary is only as strong as the actual story allows, and going into the film cold is the best way – the more you learn through the film the greater the impact it creates, moving into unexpected directions. Your response as a viewer will range from incredulity that the fam-ily could ever think that Bourdin could be an older Barclay, to humour as Bourdin seemingly gets away with his behaviour to disgust and concern as Layton's sly reveals new direction. Layton is also good at passing little in the way of judgement on his subjects. Their behaviour is delivered matter-of-factly to the viewer who can make their own minds up about the actions of Bourdin and the family of Barclay as the story progresses. You do get the feeling that at times Layton is playing the dramatic card a little heavily, a last act reveal intriguing but also feeling ever so slightly push the story into a forced.

The Impostor is howself askilled storyteller with a most compelling narrative.

 $\boldsymbol{VERDICT}-An$ incredibly interesting documentary which feels larger than life at times, The Impostor is a well-told story that surprises at every turn. Well marshalled by Bart Layton, it is a film that is certainly worth seek ing out, and a wonderful alternative to the gener-ic output of Hollywood at present. Highly recommended.

that fact.
The first lecture will be delivered on Wednesday, September 5th at the church at 7pm, when Professor Densil Morgan of t4he University of wales, Lampeter, a distin-guished historian of welsh Christianity in the 20th century, will lecture of 'Howells Howells Trehill and Methodism in the Vale of Glamorgan".
An added interest is that Prof Morgan's book on Matthews Ewenny was launched at the Eisteddfod.

Two regional AMs press the Assembly to set up a cancer treatment fund

WELSH Conservative regional AMs Suzy Davies and Byron Davies attended the launch of a petition calling on the Welsh Assembly Government to set up a £5 million cancer treatment fund to pay for cancer drugs and advanced radiotherapy and other treatments for patients in Wales. Suzy Davies said that many drugs routinely given to English cancer patients are not available in Wales.

She said: "Recent independent research by the Rarer Cancer Foundation found that there are 24 cancer medicines routinely prescribed in England which are not easily available to patients in Wales.

"People who are seriously ill with cancer should not be having to fight to get the treatment they need when over the border they would have it without question.'

Byron Davies said that the petition was calling for more cancer treatments to be available - not just drugs.

"There are innovations in radiosurgery like Cyber Knife and Gamma Knife, which people in Wales cannot access at all," he said. "Patients have had to go to England.

"A £5million fund would make all these treatments available to either save or prolong lives.'

Those who want to sign the petition can find it online at: yourever a most riveting documentary which engages on every level, and Layton shows him-

Butlin's recalled

Several pages in a new book about Butlin's are devoted to the Butlin's Camp at Barry Island and wil be of interest to former staff members and those that visited the camp

THE name Butlin's has been synonymous with seaside holiday camps and wholesome family entertainment for generations.

A new book, An Illustrated History of Butlin's, by Derek Tait, and published by Amberley Publishing at £14.99, captures those nostalgic times with the help of some 180 pictures which seem to oounce off the pages.

There are smiles galore on every page as the campers enjoy the talent contests, funfair rides, roller skating and beauty pageants.

Several pages are devoted to the campsite at Barry Island which was opened in 1966 and closed 30 years later in

Residents are warned about bogus council officer visits

VALE Council Trading Standards officers are warning residents of a scam involving hoax visits from officials claiming to be from the council tax department.

Reports have been received of callers pos-ing as officers from the authority's council tax department, and then asking for large amounts of personal information, including date of birth and national insurance numbers.

"Staff from the Vale Council are not gather-ing this information and will not ask for these details. There are concerns that this person is imitating council workers to gain information to be used for fraudulent purposes," said Principal Trading Standards officer Christina Roberts-Kinsey. "If a person cold calls and states they are from the council, please ask to see their identification card.

"If you have any doubts as to their authenticity, please do not let them into your property, or provide them with any information.

"If you are in any doubt, or if you require information relating to your council tax account, you are advised to contact the Vale Council tax section on 01446 700111."

She added that anyone who thinks they have received a similar call should report it to Citizens Advice by calling 08454 04 05 06. This information is immediately sent to the council's Trading Standards.

HENEVER people start talking about favourite TV programmes, you can guarantee that sooner or later, the series One Man and his Dog will be mentioned.

What's more, the conversation will then turn to wondering why the show, which gave an insight into the world of sheepdogs and their handlers, is no longer on primetime TV. It was at its height in the 1980s, but side 2000, fans have had to be content with the occasional special, usually at Christmas.

It is unquestionably a programme that evokes fond memories, and seems to be equally popular with country folk and city dwellers.

Next week, fans will get a chance to combine nostalgia with a real life, close-up look at the world of sheepdog trials, because over three days (September 6–8), the brightest dogs and the sharpest shepherds will be here in the Vale!

It will be serious stuff too, because a prize

The competition format is that each home nation will put forward a team of 15 dogs, with five reserves.

It conjures up an image of the team manager bringing on an 'impact sub' from the bench, but that is probably straying a little too far into rugby and football territory! There will be an individual element to the competition as well. The top 15 dogs will go forward to a

WANTED COACH IS

Could you make a difference the development of girls' football?

The Vale Ladies & Girls Football Club currently has a coaching opportunity for one of its junior teams due to a highly successful summer recruitment programme.

Matches take place on Sunday mornings in the South Wales Girls League and training session on Wednesday evenings in the Barry

The club also supports its vol-unteers with coach education courses. For more information please call 07832 273688 or email

Roller skating club's inaugural competition highlights Vale's talent

THE newly formed Glamorgan Artistic Roller Skating Club held its first club annual competition recently at Llantwit Major Leisure Centre.

Trophies were kindly donated privately or by local businesses.
Jane Hutt AM

watched some of the events and seemed delighted by what she saw, and presented the trophies, medals and cer-

Julie Whittingham from the Federation of Artistic Roller Skating had the difficult job of judging the six events. Results: The Barry Tyre Centre Trophy -1st place Charleigh Griffith, 2nd place Erin Middleton, 3rd place Bailee Potter.

Barrett Butchers Trophy - 1st place Bethan Daly, 2nd place Hannah John, 3rd place Michael Vaughan

George Morgan Memorial Trophy - 1st place Kaitlin Daly and Katie Vaughan, 2nd place Lara Goodwin and Hannah John, 3rd place Naomi Cooper and Phoebe Escott.

Tony Vodden Memorial Trophy - 1st place Katie Vaughan,

2nd place Kaitlin Daly, 3rd place Phoebe Escott. Glamorgan Artistic Roller Skating Club

Trophy This was a novelty free dance competition; the skaters choose their own music, make up, programme and dress programme and dress: Results:1st place Kaitlin Daly, 2nd place Bethan Daly, 3rd place Emily Eveleigh. There was a seventh trophy donated by our judge Julie Whittingham.

It was awarded for the most improved skater, chosen by head coach kept a close secret until she announced Michael Vaughan as the winner.

Posies of flowers were given to Bethan Daly and Medi Western for their hard work and improvement in the last few months. Following these events our coaches who give so much of their time, gave a short exhi-bition of a dance medley.

Donna Daly, Anne-Marie Escott, Amy Goodwin, Penny Phillips, Liz Vaughan and Leslie Fletcher, received great applause.

Bouquets were presented to Jane Hutt and Julie Whittingham. Chocolates were given to the six coaches and to our overworked secretary Sheilagh Jones and to Chairlady Hilary Cridge.

If you would like to try this challenging but fun sport the club meets at Llantwit Major Leisure Centre on Saturday 3-00 to 5-00pm and at the Colcot Sport Centre on Tuesday 6-00 to 8-00pm. For more information e-mail. sheilagha0nn@hotmail.c

Important information for existing and new council tenants

From April 2013 Housing Benefit Rules are changing for 'working age' tenants who live in Council and Housing Association properties. If you are of pension age this chnage will not affect you.

Deductions will be made from Housing Benefit claim where a claimant is living in a property that is classed as too large for them. There will be a 14% deduction for one extra bedroom and a 25% deduction for two or more bedrooms.

To calculate room needs for a client, one bedroom is allowed for each of the following:

- · every adult couple;
- · any other adult aged over 18;
- · any two children of the same sex up to age 16;
- · any two children regardless of sex aged under 10; or
- · any other child.

Foster children are not included in the calculation.

Examples

A single person (of working age) living in a two-bedroom property

The assessment of room need would be one bedroom, so a 14% deduction from their Housing Benefit would apply.

A couple (of working age) living in a three-bedroom property The assessment of room need would be one bedroom, so a

25% deduction from their Housing Benefit would apply A single parent or couple with a son aged 8 and a daughter aged 6, living in a three-bedroom property

The assessment of room need would be two bedrooms, so there would be a 14% deduction from their Housing Benefit

A single parent or couple with two daughters, aged 12 and 6, and a son aged 4, living in a three-bedroom property less performance and once Dinas got their first goal there was going to be only one winner.

The assessment of room need would be three bedrooms, so no deduction would apply.

The visitors were the better side from the kick-off but couldn't make the most of their chances with Mathew Trottman, Robbie Fowler and player-man-Robbie ager Mark Dunford all having chances to open the scoring.

Dinas were dealt a blow when Trottman limped off to be replaced by Stoffen Davise He Steffan Davies, He made an immediate impact but put his shot wide of the post. He didn't have to wait long though and when Steve Provis's through ball was inch perfect he fin-ished by hooking the ball past keeper Lloyd Waghorn for the first goal

Chris Hinam and Dunford both shot wide before Dinas got their second just a minute before half-time and again it was substitute Davies who met an excellent low cross from Fowler to fire in from close range. Dinas went in at half-time two goals to the good but nobody was prepared for what would happen in the sec-

Cwmaman must have wondered what hit them as within a minute of the restart Fowler's early ball into the area was left by Davies to run on for Dunford who clinically finished from 12 yards.

The visitors were stung by this reverse and replied with a fine try wide out to level the scores. Both teams were intent on playing open rugby and they succeeded in produc-

ner, Liam Jeremy played the ball short to Davies who returned the ball for Jeremy to put in a cross that beat everybody and the ball nestled in the back of the net. Ten minutes later following the introduction of sub Joe Hinds for Dunford, Jeremy scored his second and again the ball found the net this time direct from a corner.

Eighteen minutes into the second-half Davies completed his hat-trick, Adam Raymond won the ball in midfield and played the ball through for Davies to score from 15 yards. Two minutes later Davies was the provider heading a free-kick down for Fowler to steer his shot wide of the keeper and into the net.

On twenty-three min-utes it was time for Raymond to get in on the act, he finished off a neat passing move with a low shot followed a couple of minutes later by Hinds heading in a Richard Yarr cross

On the half-hour Hinds got his second goal with a shot from the edge of the area, nine minutes later came a fine solo effort from Robbie Fowler, taking the ball on the half-way line he went past three defenders before rounding the keeper deep in the area and shooting into an

Dinas have not yet hit the form they attained towards the end of last season but they are unbeaten so far with 2 draws and 2 wins under their belt and they proved too strong for Rangers at Wenvoe last Tuesday. The home side gained the majority of possession in the opening minutes but it was Dinas who had the first meaningful attacks with Robbie Fowler on the right the first to trouble the Rangers' defence.

On a couple of occa-sions he got the better of his defender to produce with such a promising performance.

Cardiff could not match these facets

Ten minutes in Luke O'Sullivan got tunately the balls were just beyond the Dinas forwards. On 18 minutes Dinas went ahead when a rash challenge on Matt Trottman deep in the area saw the referee immediately point to the spot and player manager Mark Dunford stepped up to send keeper Hart the wrong way to score.

A couple of minutes later they doubled their lead with the best move of the game involving 5 players, the ball was swiftly transferred from defence to Adam Raymond in the area his accurate cross to the far post gave Fowler the easiest of tasks to slot the ball home from a couple of yards.

Rangers' Cottrell had a couple of long range shooting opportunities off target but just before half-time it was Dinas who should have added to their lead Richard Yarr when found Dunford in acres of space.

He moved forward but placed his shot not wide of the keeper but also the post.

The lights came on for the second-half and Rangers again had the major share of possession with Dinas content to contain them; at the back Mike Lewis covered well making a number of timely interceptions and Chris Hinam was playing his usual composed game.

Going forward Trottman fired a ball across the keeper but also wide of the post before he laid the ball on for Dunford to shoot over from the edge of the area.

Mid-way through the second-half Dinas got their third, Fowler and Trottman again played their parts in the buildup before a 15 yard shot rebounded off the crossbar hitting an unfortunate defender on the before rolling back across the goal-line.

Rangers got their goal minutes from time when a cross from the right was headed home by substitute Dominic Pates. Dinas played out the remaining 5 minutes without any major scares.

Next game, Dinas Powys v Cardiff Corries kick off 2:30pm.

Paralysed driver warns: 'Don't buy part worn tyres!'

ysed in a horrific car accident when driving on part worn tyres is hoping his story will urge other drivers to think twice about which tyres they choose.

He suffered terrible life-changing injuries and is now perma-nently paralysed from the top of his chest down, only able to move his arms and neck. He has also experienced emotional scars, often enduring nightmarish flashbacks to that fateful day.

All of the tyres on the car had recently been purchased in a part-worn condition and a police investigation blamed them as a major contributory factor.

He had always bought part worn tyres and replaced them every few months, unaware of the safety risks associated with buying used tyres.

"I thought I was saving money with part worn tyres but I've paid a terrible price; if I knew then what I know now. I would never have bought part worn tyres. Unfortunately, for me it's too late, but I would urge other drivers to steer clear of part worn tyres and always opt for brand new ones," he said

TyreSafe, a leading tyre safety organisation, recently revealed the alarming findings of an ongoing investigation it carried out with Auto Express magazine into part warn tyres.

Having bought 50 part worn tyres, these were inspected by an independent tyre expert, who found that 98 per cent of the tyres were being sold illegally.

However, of more concern was that over a third of the tyres were found to contain other potentially dangerous forms of damage or non-compliance with part worn tyre legislation.

Stuart Jackson, chairman, TyreSafe: "All tyres suffer from wear over time but TyreSafe always advocates the fitting of brand new tyres as the safest option.

"It's impossible to know the history of part worn tyres and the true extent of any damage which may have occurred inside the tyre. Only by choosing brand new tyres can you be sure that it is free from any hidden dangers and able to offer the safest driving possible.

MOTORING with TIM SAUNDERS

THE LAND ROVER DEFENDER TAKES US TO A BYGONI

INCE 1948, there has only been one vehicle for serious off-roading - the British-built Land Rover, which has earned a reputation as the most rugged and versatile 4x4 in the world.

Which, of course, is why the British Army, the Fire Brigade and countless aid organisations throughout the world, use them.

The current model was introduced in 2007 and an average 25,000 are sold every year.

"The substantial improvements to the Defender in 2007 transformed its on-road refinement and comfort whilst extending its legendary capability off-road for which Defender is synonymous," says John Edwards, Land Rover Global Brand Director.

"With the introduction of the new 2.2-litre diesel engine and two option packs, the Defender for 2012 before," he adds.

Despite the smaller capacity and reduced emissions, the new engine produces the same power as the outgoing 2.4-litre engine. Performance remains similar, too, though the top speed has been raised to 90mph, compared to 82mph for the previous ver-

In Indus silver the riveted aluminium Defender 90 XS Station Wagon tested looks "like a sardine can", according to a work colleague – an unfair and unjustified remark, I say. I feel it's particularly striking, while also being hugely practical as its body will remain rust free for many years to come. It's quite incredible how the design has remained virtually unchanged since its introduction all those years ago.

This three-door vehicle has a very loyal following. In much the same way as motorhome drivers wave at each other so do, I am pleased to report, Land Rover Defender drivers too

It makes such a pleasant change to the aggres sive competition that is prevalent on Britain's roads

Inside, you are transported to a bygone era again few changes have been made over the last 64 years. It's really refreshing. I sat in the driver's seat for a good 10 minutes trying to figure out where to slot the ignition key.

It's on the left of the steering wheel and rather than turning it away from you, the driver has to turn it towards them.

Space between the front occupants and their doors is tight, too, meaning that resting arms on the door frame isn't particularly comfy.

There aren't any airbags either and the dash is given to practicality rather than design, but it's attractive in a Tonka toy sense of the word.

The passenger grab bar is certainly appreciated by my wife during our cross-country jaunt. Its windscreen wipers remind me of an old Mini or a classic car of that era, quite small and slow.

These could be improved for serious offroaders, I feel, who need wipers more capable of removing mud from the screen, but if there haven't been any question?

Modern Land Rovers get carpets and leather-trimmed seats. The test model is even fitted with air con, electric windows and a CD player.

The Defender will seat four adults in comfort and the rear seats incorporate an easy-to-use spring-assisted fold mechanism, useful when they need to be moved out of the way for carrying large or awkward loads.

Driving a Land Rover is an entirely unique experience. Thankfully, there is power steering these days but the handbrake is awkwardly placed at the side of the driver's left leg, requiring them to lean forward to operate it, quite a chore when performing a hill start.

The 2.2-litre diesel unit is vocal and the stereo has to be turned up to drown it out. Apparently, the lower first gear provides a low crawl speed, making towing on-road and off-road easier. When making a gear change on the six-speed manual box there is a very distinctive sound as the gears slot into place. Generally, gear changes are stiff rather than smooth

Bear in mind that the previous week I was testing a top-of-the-range Range Rover Autobiography where everything was electrically operated and adjusted.

Driving the much more basic Land Rover is an absolute contrast, as you will see at testdrives.biz. But in many ways it is a more enjoyable driving experience as there are fewer bells and whistles.

Although it's permanent four-wheel drive, the high ratio for road driving and low ratio for offroading are manually operated by a lever next to the gearbox and that's generally all the Land Rover driver has to worry about.

This lever can be changed at speeds of up to five mph, and the Land Rover will travel at up to 40 mph when in low ratio, making it a formidable vehicle and an absolute must during amber weather warnings, which hit the UK during the test.

It's interesting to note that the Defender's facia is based on a single, large moulding supported on a robust steel rail to help eliminate squeaks and rattles and this seems to work very well indeed.

A 60-litre fuel tank sees the Land Rover cover around 330 miles from full and you can see why hardened Land Rover enthusiasts fit a second tank to enhance its range.

Overall, though, it is easy to see why the keenlypriced Land Rover Defender is so popular.

Weather ends season on a low for Sully

THE 2012 league season ended on a typical note for Sully Centurions, with all but one of the four teams having their games cancelled due to the wet weather.

The only team to play were the Second XI, who went down to a five-wicket defeat at Bridgend.

Sully batted first in a match reduced to 39 overs each and were soon in trouble, with openers Matthew Thomas and Ben Callow back in the pavilion with only 12 runs on the board.

On a wet day the conditions favoured the bowlers and Centurions found it hard to gain any momentum with wickets falling with some regularity. Oz Bennett (31) and Tom Edwards (13) shared a stand of 40 to push the score along, but when both were out within a few balls of each other, the run rate slowed down again and Centurions eventually finished on 102 for 8.

In reply, Bridgend didn't have it all their own way losing five wickets in the run chase, but the target was reached in the 35th over and they ran out deserved winners.

So the 2012 league season finished with a respectable mid table position for Centurions, who will take some comfort in the knowledge that several young players have emerged as real prospects.

Result: Bridgend 107/5 - Sully 102/8.
